A NEW ROMANCE
SWEET AND WHOLESOME

Marcia Schuyler

By Grace Livingston Hill Lutz

Author of "The Story of a Whim," etc.

The story of Marcia Schuyler, set in the time of 1830, has a unique plot, fragrant of lavender and rosemary. It is a romance of a simple life, yet thrilling with heart experiences, touched with humor, and shadowed by tragedy—but through it all Marcia wins her sweet way in spite of maiden aunts and jealous rivals.

Frontispiece in color by Anna Whelan Betts, and six illustrations from paintings by Edward L. Henry.

NOTES IN SEASON.

L. C. PAGE & Co. will bring out in April "Anne of Green Gables," by Miss L. M. Montgomery, which promises to have as a heroine one of the most delightful and original girl characters in fiction since Mrs. Wiggins' charming Rebecca made her bow to the reading world.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY have just published "The Stuff of a Man," by Mrs. Katherine Evans Blake, a story of the struggle between the whites and blacks along the Ohio River where North meets South. Without prejudice, without rancor and without fear the author discloses the awful menace of the situation. Yet both sides get a "square deal."

CUPPLES & LEON will publish on the 20th inst. "The Motor Boys Afloat, or, the Cruise of the Dartaway," by Clarence Young, a new volume in The Motor Boat Series, which already includes "The Motor Boys, or, Chums Through Thick and Thin," "The Motor Boys Overland," "The Motor Boys in Mexico" and "The Motor Boys Across the Plains." Each volume is illustrated and attractively bound in cloth.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. will publish on March 21 "The Supreme Gift," by Grace Denio Litchfield, author of "The Moving Finger Writes," etc. The question of individual social responsibility is made the basis for a strong novel, whose situations are dramatic and colored by a pathos that enlists the reader's sympathies. The famous Waggaman failure of a few years ago has given the author her cue, but the development of her story is along vastly different lines from those of the real case.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have just ready an up-to-date book on the sport of mountain-climbing, entitled "The Complete Mountaineer," by George D. Abraham, one of the world's most famous mountain-climbers, with seventy-five photographs; "Egypt and How to See It," a handy guide to the Orient, showing how to economize time, money and energy in train service, hotels, etc., with an Arabic-English vocabulary and eighteen illustrations in color; the second volume in their Large Print Library, Charles Reade's "Love Me Little Love Me Long;" also, "Essays Every Child Should Know" and "Heroines Every Child Should Know," both edited by Hamilton W. Mabie, the latter in collaboration with Miss Kate Stephens.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish on the 19th inst. a new novel by Rex Beach, the author of "The Spoilers," etc., entitled "The Barrier," a story of great hate and a great love, the background of which is Alaska. They will publish shortly "The Judgment of Eve," by May Sinclair, author of "The Divine Fire," a story of a faithful husband and a loving wife whose life nevertheless is subject to the tragic circumstances that have to do with hopes and ideals; "Santa Lucia," by Mrs. Mary Hunter Austin, author of "Isidro," describing life in a little community in California near San Francisco; "The Standard Usage in English," by Professor Thomas R. Lounsbury, of Yale, a standard work for all interested in correct speech; a condensed edition of Motley's "Dutch Republic," to be entitled "The Dutch Nation," with notes and introduction, biographical sketch, and historical narrative brought down to 1908, by William Elliot Griffis; also two books for young people—"Juan Ponce de Leon," by Frederick A. Ober, and "To the Front," by General Charles King, a sequel to "Cadet Days."

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Bax, Ernest Belfort. The roots of reality: being suggestions for a philosophical reconstruction. N. Y., B. W. Dodge & Co., 1908. 11+331 p. O. cl., *$2 net.

The author is an English barrister-at-law and has written "A manual of the history of philosophy," "The problem of reality," etc. His preface gives the author's purpose in the following words: "Starting from certain postulates, founded in the consistency of consciousness itself, [he] seeks to rough-hew some outlines indicating the leading directions, such as it appears to him, any future philosophic construction is bound to take (or, if this be disputed, at least to take account of) if it aspires to be even relatively adequate to the needs of the up-to-date philosophic mind."

Beal, Ja. Hartley. Prescription practice and general dispensing: an elementary treatise for students of pharmacy. Scio, O., James H. Beal, 1908. c. 217 p. il. O. cl., $1.50.

Author is professor of applied pharmacy in the Pittsburgh College of Pharmacy. He gives an outline of a systematic course of study in extemporaneous compounding for the novice. The subjects chosen have been selected from the more usual operations of the dispensing counter, or from those most likely to prove troublesome to the inexperienced compounder.

Benton, Elbert J. International law and diplomacy of the Spanish-American war. Baltimore, Md., Johns Hopkins Press, 1908. c. 5-300 p. O. (Albert Shaw lectures on diplomatic history, 1907.) cl., $1.50.

Author is assistant professor of history in Western Reserve University. This work is intended as a study of the relations of the United States with Spain during the late Cuban insurrection and the resultant Spanish war. The history of the conduct of the belligerents from the standpoint of international law has been a subject of special consideration. Among the topics discussed are: Cuba and national policy; American neutrality, 1895-1897; Abandonment of non-intervention policy; Intervention; Transition from neutrality to belligerency; Relations of the belligerents; Relations between belligerents and neutrals; Negotiations of belligerents during war; Restoration of peace; Interpretation and fulfilment of treaty of peace.

Brewster, W. N. The cost of Christian conquest. Cin., Jennings & Graham, [1908.] c. 7-135 p. S. cl., *35 c. net.

What will it cost in men and money to evangelize the world in this generation? That is the question which leading laymen and ministers of Protestant churches everywhere are asking to-day. Here is the answer. William N. Brewster has been for seventeen years in charge of an important mission station in Hinghua, China, and in close touch with every phase of missionary activity in recent times. He is also the author of "The evolution of new China."

Bruce, H. Addington. The riddle of personality. N. Y., Moffat, Yard & Co., 1908. c. 13+247 p. D. cl., $1.50 net.

The work deals with the scientific development and utilization of man's latent powers. It describes the wonderful work now being done by certain scientists in Europe and America to stamp the abnormal out of human life, to cure mental and nervous disease, even to assist normal, everyday man to withstand better the terrific strain of present-day conditions. It also presents, in language intelligible to the non-scientific reader, an idea of the remarkable results secured by another group of investigators, the "psychical researchers," whose special aim has been to obtain, if possible, proof of the survival of human personality after the death of the body.

An accurate narrative of some of the principal events which have occurred in Egypt and in the Scudan since the year 1876, and an explanation of the results which have accrued to Egypt from the British occupation of the country in 1882. The incidents of the author's public life have afforded him special opportunities for compiling certain chapters of Egyptian history. From March, 1877, to June, 1880, and again from September, 1883, up to the present time (1907), he has been behind the scenes of Egyptian affairs, both as Finance minister of India and Minister at Cairo. He has had access to all the documents in the archives of the Foreign Offices of both London and Cairo, and has been in close communication with almost every one who has taken a leading part in Egyptian affairs of to day. The author of "Figs in clover" offers a searching analysis of character in her study of Sally Snape, who is introduced as a small girl living in one of the most miserable alleys of London's East side. Her career is traced with realistic fidelity in her attempts to earn enough to save her from starvation; as a worker in a factory, as an assistant to a man dressmaker, and finally as a singer and dancer in a music hall, when only seventeen. Through the interest of friends she has received enough polish and education to make her very attractive. The author describes her as having "the honor of a man and the heart of a child," and aims to show how these qualities carry her unscathed through exceptional temptations.

Dickinson, Martha Gilbert, [now Mrs. Alexander Bianchi.] A modern Prometheus. N. Y., Duffield & Co., 1908. c. 413 p. front. D. cl., †$1.50.

The heroine is an American who had made an unhappy marriage with a titled Italian. After two years of misery she leaves him, and with her mother wanders through Italy, striving to forget her past. It is at Perugia, Italy, that the story is played out. Here Clare meets a young Italian priest, who obtains a wonderful influence over her. Her husband seeks her there, and is mysteriously murdered. An American in the party loves her, and for a time it is a question whether she will accept his love or spend the rest of her young life in a convent. By the author of "Within the hedge," etc.

Fletcher, J. S. Mothers in Israel: a study in rustic amenities. N. Y., Moffat, Yard & Co., 1908. c. '07. 8+328 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

A humorous picture of an English rural community that comes for a time under charge of a pastor of city breeding and university ideas. The "mothers in Israel" are the wives of the two richest and most influential farmers; they illustrate, the author says, "that peculiar form of sin which our grandfathers styled backbiting." A pretty love story is woven in the village chronicles. The author is known in England as one of the most popular of the younger novelists.

Higgins, Aileen Cleveland. Thekla: a drama. Bost., Poet Lore Co., [Richard G. Badger,] 1908. c. 62 p. 12°, $1.

Thekla is a noble maiden of Iconium; her mother has arranged a suitable marriage for her, but coming under the influence of the Apostle Paul she dedicates her life to the Christian's God. The scene changes from Iconium to Antioch. Alexander, the high priest, first sees Thekla there at a festival. She resents his admiration and is condemned to the arena, where the wild beasts refuse to touch her. Alexander is so deeply impressed that he releases and pardons Thekla.

Hume, Fergus W. The sealed message. N. Y., G. W. Dillingham Co., [1908.] c. '07. 291 p. front. D. cl., $1.25.

A phonograph record fished up by two young Englishmen out on a vacation is "the sealed message," which reveals the fact that a young girl is imprisoned in a neighboring house on the pretense that she has homicidal mania. One of the men goes in search of her and, of course, falls in love. His friend, who is a lawyer, helps him to free her and obtain her true story. A queer will and a large fortune have been the motives for her imprisonment by an old army officer. Murderous Sicilians, a twin sister of the imprisoned girl, women adventuresses, and other strange characters all help to entangle the story to the end.

Japan in New York. [N. Y., Anraku Publishing Co.,] 1908. c. 5-48+46 p. pors. pls. O. pap., 50 c.

There are about 3000 Japanese in the neighborhood of Greater New York. This is intended as a record and guide to this population. It gives a brief history of the organization of each Japanese institution, agency, store and individual work, and is printed in the Japanese as well as in the English language. It gives the constitution of the Nippon Club, a representative New York Japanese Club, and also a directory of 180 well-known Japanese residents of New York. Much information upon the Japanese by George Trumbull Ladd, Seth Low, and others, is also included.

Jepson, Edgar. Tangled wedlock. N. Y., McClure Co., 1908. c. 3-343 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The author of "The Admirable Tinker" tells a story of modern bohemia in the artistic and literary world of New York among people devoted to fads—mental healing, hygienic vegetarianism, mesmerism, spiritualism, etc. The heroine is the daughter of a woman who has utterly neglected her while she worked for the higher culture and greater life of a "Circle" she had drawn about her. The hero is a sculptor, and he and the "unconventional" heroine talk on many topics and do many foolish things. They marry; then the sculptor hears from his first wife; he leaves the heroine, who marries his titled cousin. The first husband returns; the second husband dies; all ends well according to "bohemian" ideals and circumstances.

A humorous satire on present methods of government, especially under monarchical rule, showing great knowledge of human nature and the quiet repose of the thoughtful scholar. A new condition of things succeeds the little revolution and the hero doctor and noblewoman adviser to the former king again rule as they did before. No place is given and the story applies equally to all modern governments.

Charles Murdoch and Sophy Baker fell in love with each other when mere boy and girl and married. When we meet them again, twenty or more years after, they have two grown children, one, a girl, engaged to be married. Murdoch has made a fortune and retired from active business. He is still young looking and handsome and still in love with life, but his home is no longer a home to him. He and his wife have grown apart. She has not progressed mentally with him and has lost her good looks and is slovenly and lazy. An old business friend guides him in search of happiness, and a realistic picture is given of the New York "Tenderloin" and members of the demi-monde. A divorce and other unpleasant things result.

At Gertrude Elliot's coming of age she is informed by her guardian—her father's dearest friend—that he has robbed her of every penny of her large fortune and that his son, who had claimed to love Gertrude, is also a dishonest man. With an almost divine pity she forgives the pair, keeps her loss a secret, and gives them a chance to redeem the past. She obtains a position as housekeeper in a rich family and successfully earns a living until the dislike of a servant throws suspicion upon her of being a thief. The story ends happily. The men win back her fortune and she has offered to her the disinterested love of an honest man. By the author of "Katherine's sheaves," etc.

Author is emeritus professor of chemistry in the University of Copenhagen. The experimental work for this book was carried out in the years 1851 to 1885, but the greater part belongs to the last 20 years of that period during which the author was director of the chemical laboratory of the University. His information was published in a four-volume work, "Thermochemische untersuchungen." He now wishes to make the original results more accessible than in the larger work. He reviews the whole of the numerical and theoretical results without devoting much space to experimental details. He has reduced the work one-fifth and has provided easy access to the results themselves.

The author claims there is only one way of defending the attitude of the Catholic church in the Middle Ages toward the Inquisition. He says: "We must examine and judge this institution objectively, from the standpoint of morality, justice and religion, instead of comparing its excesses with the blameworthy actions of other tribunals." He feels no historian has yet treated the Inquisition from this objective standpoint. The special value of the book lies in its criticisms, original or quoted, of the existing literature on the Inquisition. Bibliography (5 p.).

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MARCH 14, 1908.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

ADVICE NOT SUBSTITUTES.

To what extent a bookseller should direct the reading of his constituency has always been a mooted point. There are some that have very decided opinions that the bookseller should not interfere with his customers' choice of books, and others who are decidedly of the opinion that it is their duty to deflect their customers' choice from what in their opinion is unprofitable or pernicious. As usual, the safe course is between these two opinions.

One of the chief pleasures of the real book-hunter is to be permitted to roam about a bookstore without let or hindrance, to take down such books as may strike his fancy, to scan them, to heap them up in piles on the ledges of the shelves where he may have found them, and, when satiated with the chase, to return to the books he may have turned down on the shelves or have taken down to place on the cairns of books he may have built up, make his final selection. The bookseller's office in such a case is simply to price the books chosen and have them packed up for delivery. It would be simply preposterous for a bookseller to even attempt to direct the purchases of such a bookbuyer further than to call his attention to other books in which he knows the collector to be interested which he may have overlooked or which may be kept in reserve in some other part of the store.

It would likewise be impertinent for a bookseller or his assistants to interfere with the choice of an adult customer who may desire a certain book in favor of another that in the bookseller's opinion is "a good deal better." How fatal such a practice is was recently pointed out by the London Academy in the note quoted below:

At a well-known bookseller's shop in Piccadilly there is a certain gentleman who has, by careful and deferential treatment of that portion of "Society" which likes to think itself "literary," raised himself from a very humble position to one of trust and affluence. Mr. — has lately taken to giving advice, not only of a positive kind, (which was harmless and pleased those who mistook the shop assistant's tricks of the trade for a real knowledge of books,) but of a negative kind. Thus, in the case of a book which was the work of some author who had incurred the displeasure of this "adviser in literature to the aristocracy," he actually strongly advised a chance customer, a lady, not to buy it, and offered her something of the same sort, "only a good deal better." The lady in question was a simple soul, and would not have ventured to dispute the judgment of so renowned a critic, but she happened to be the aunt of the author of the book, and as she was probably buying it more from a sense of family duty than for any other reason, she felt aggrieved, and ventilated her grievance, and it was then discovered that other inquirers for the same book had fared in the same manner in the same shop. Now these people are looking out for a bookseller's where the methods of the cheap drugstore are not in use, and the matter having been reported to the publisher of the book, there is some talk of a possibility of further developments.

The bookseller has an unquestioned right to his opinion of the books which he keeps in stock; but he must be exceedingly careful of airing his opinion unless directly asked for it; that is, he must not obtrude it. If a book in his opinion is immoral or unmoral he is not obliged to keep it in stock, and he may make the necessary excuses to a customer who desires to purchase it without enlarging upon the demerits of the book, his opinions of which, after all, may be only based upon his prejudices.

The bookseller's rare privilege in recommending books is in the case of the person who does not know what he wants to read, and in the case of young people in search of "a good book to read." In such cases, if the bookseller knows what he is about he may lead his constituents to his heart's content, may in fact bring them up in a course of reading that will last from year to year unless he makes the mistake of striking the dull and uninteresting. On such lines the bookseller may surround himself with a circle of customers that will stick by him through thick and through thin, provided they may rely upon his judgment and be certain of getting the worth of their money. In the case of the surfeited adult reader, also, who may be in doubt as to whether the latest exploited book is worth while he may with a certain discrimination give, not necessarily his own opinion, but that of known authorities, and leave it to the customer's judgment to buy that particular book or another.

In fact, the bookseller should be chary of giving advice based on his own opinion or prejudice and should be slow in offering substitutes lest he wishes to be ranked with the cheap druggist who offers substitutes for the real article for the money that is in it.

WHAT IT IS CRIMINAL FOR A BOOK-SELLER TO MAIL AND TO SELL.

For the guidance of those booksellers who may still have any doubt as to what it is illegal to mail and to offer for sale, we give below the section of the postal laws that defines the matter:

"Every obscene, lewd, or lascivious book, pamphlet, picture, paper, letter, writing, print or other publication of an indecent character, and every article or thing designed or intended for the prevention of conception or procuring of abortion, and every article or thing intended or adapted for any indecent or immoral use, and every written or printed card, letter, circular, book, pamphlet, advertisement or notice of any kind giving information, directly or indirectly, where or how, or of whom, or by what means any of the hereinbefore mentioned matters, articles, or things may be obtained or made, whether sealed as first-class matter or not, are hereby declared to be non-mailable matter, and shall not be conveyed in the mails nor delivered from any postoffice nor by any letter-carrier; and any person who shall knowingly deposit, or cause to be deposited, for mailing or delivery anything declared by this section to be non-mailable matter, and any person who shall knowingly take the same, or cause the same to be taken, from the mails for the purpose of circulating or disposing of, or of aiding in the circulation or disposition of the same, shall, for each and every offense, be fined upon the conviction thereof not more than five thousand dollars, or imprisoned at hard labor not more than five years, or both, at the discretion of the court. And all offenses committed under the section of which this is amendatory, prior to the approval of this act, may be prosecuted and punished under the same in the same manner and with the same effect as if this act had not been passed: Provided, That nothing in this act shall authorize any person to open any letter or sealed matter of the first-class not addressed to himself."

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW MUST PROVE DAMAGES.

THE Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of New York has handed down an opinion, in which all the justices concur, in support of the contention of Duffield & Company that George Bernard Shaw should file a bill of particulars in the suit for alleged damages which he recently brought against them. Mr. Shaw alleged that Herbert S. Stone & Company, under an agreement with him, took out copyrights for the United States on certain of his books, publishing the books meanwhile under a license from him. In 1905, Mr. Shaw alleged he revoked the license and demanded a reassignment of the copyrights from Herbert S. Stone & Company, who, however, instead of assigning them to Shaw, assigned them to Duffield & Company. Mr. Shaw and his publishers, Brentano's, alleged further that Duffield & Company had notice of his claim of ownership of the copyrights, but they declined to reassign them back to him, by reason of which refusal, he alleged, he suffered damages to the extent of $200 a day, and accordingly brought against Herbert S. Stone & Company a suit, in which Duffield & Company were joined as defendants, to recover this amount.

Of the defendants, Duffield & Company admit that they took assignments of the copyrights in question from Stone, but deny that they ever had the notice alleged of rights claimed by Shaw in the said copyrights. Their answer further alleges that after the commencement of this suit, and after investigation of Shaw's claims, but without admitting the correctness of them, they did, in order to avoid litigation, assign the copyrights to him in December, 1906.

Duffield & Company accordingly made a motion for a bill of particulars of the plaintiff Shaw's claim for damages, a motion which was denied by the Supreme Court. This decision of the Supreme Court is now reversed by the Appellate Division. The opinion declares in part that the action is not brought for the infringement of copyrights or damages for the sale of books in violation of the copyrights. The complaint alleges that Shaw has suffered $200 a day damage by reason of the unlawful retention of the copyrights by Duffield & Company. From March 3, 1906, to December 20, 1906, this would amount to $58,400. There is not a word in the complaint as to the nature of this alleged damage or the facts upon which the claim is based.

A HISTORY OF ENCYCLOPEDIAS.

LOUIS WINDMÜLLER, the well-known New York merchant and writer on political and other subjects, has contributed to the March issue of The American Review of Reviews an article on "Encyclopedias, Past and Present" that may be read with profit and interest by booksellers as well as by all who are interested in books. Mr. Windmüller traces the beginnings of encyclopedias to a work by Speusippos, a disciple of Plato, and M. Terentius Varro, a friend of Cicero, of which, however, no copy seems to have been preserved. The next oldest encyclopedia is the "Historia Naturalis," compiled by the elder Pliny, which was made up from extracts of the many thousand volumes read by Pliny.

The honor of first bringing a dictionary of general knowledge into alphabetical order belongs to Ephraim Chambers, an English Quaker, whose taste for literature was acquired in a globemaker's studio, and whose encyclopedia was first published in 1727. Within eighteen years five editions were required to supply an unheard-of demand, each edition being greatly augmented. After Chambers's death the work was further improved by Abraham Rees. The present "Chambers's Encyclopedia" is not a successor of Ephraim Chambers's work, but one begun in 1860, by Robert and William Chambers, to meet the demand for a more condensed and cheaper reference work than the "Encyclopedia Britannica."

A French translation of Chambers's work led, in 1751, to the publication, by Diderot and D'Alembert, of the Encyclopédie raisonnée des Sciences, des Arts et des Métiers.

In 1771, William Smellie, a Scottish printer and naturalist, ambitious to emulate Buffon, one of the prominent contributors to the French Encyclopédie, whose writings he had translated, brought out the first edition of the "Cyclopedia Britannica," which, with every edition, has become ever more celebrated.

The first attempt made to publish an encyclopedia in Germany, which has become the leader in this sort of literature, was in 1812, when F. A. Brockhaus issued the first edition of his "Konversations Lexikon," in which he laid the foundation for the most perfect system of elucidation. A fourteenth edition of this splendid work was recently published by its founder's grandsons.

Brockhaus's success inspired Joseph Meyer, a cobbler's son, to invade the field in 1857 with his "Meyer's Konversations Lexikon des Allgemeinen Wissens," continued at intervals of ten years by his grandson, Hans Meyer, known through his guide book as "the genial traveller."

The first attempt in America was made by Dr. Franz Lieber, whose "Encyclopedia Americana" appeared in Philadelphia in 1839. This was followed by Appleton's "American Cyclopedia" published from 1857 to 1863.

The most recent additions to encyclopedic literature are "The New International Encyclopedia," in ten volumes, a most scholarly work, published by Dodd, Mead & Co., and the encyclopedia edited by Professor Frank Moore Colby and published by Thomas Nelson & Sons, which attempts to keep its information up to date by means of five hundred revision sheets issued annually and which may be inserted between the loose, unpaginated leaves of the respective volumes, which are like the leaves of modern mercantile ledgers, held together by ingenious binders.

We must confine ourselves to this mention of but a few of the more important encyclopedias fully treated by Mr. Windmüller, who covers the field as comprehensively as possible. His article is accompanied by a number of portraits and facsimiles of title-pages which add considerably to the interest of the text.

THE IMPORTANCE OF ADVERTISING TO NEWSPAPERS.

GEORGE W. OCHS, of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, in an address to the Poor Richard Club, in Philadelphia, on March 11, on "The Relation of the Advertiser to the Newspaper," gave the following interesting facts regarding the importance of advertising to newspapers:

"The importance of advertising to the newspaper industry is best illustrated by the census figures of 1900. The total newspaper receipts during the census year are given at $175,000,000—$95,000,000 advertising revenues and $80,000,000 subscription. In 1907 it is fair to estimate that the aggregate receipts were 33⅓ per cent. larger, ranging about $235,000,000, of which nearly 66⅔ per cent., or about $150,000,000 was from advertising. The ratio of subscription receipts to the total has diminished in the last seven years in consequence of the general reduction in subscription prices.

"There are, perhaps, 2500 daily newspapers in the United States, hence the average advertising receipts are $60,000 annually. Several metropolitan dailies have advertising receipts in excess of $2,000,000 annually, while their subscription income is, perhaps, less than 25 per cent. of this sum. From these figures the fact is very clearly deduced how prodigiously important is the advertising account to the prosperity of the newspaper, and how vitally essential it becomes that the proper relation of the newspaper to the advertiser be maintained."

The article printed in full in the Philadelphia Ledger for March 12 is well worth studying by all interested in canvassing for and placing advertising matter.

NEWSDEALER FINED FOR SELLING BLASPHEMOUS LITERATURE.

CHARLES J. VANNI, an importer of foreign newspapers, at 148 West Broadway, New York City, was fined $150 in Special Sessions on March 10 for violating Section 316 of the Penal Code, in selling blasphemous literature. Vanni was arrested by Anthony Comstock for offering for sale French and Italian anti-clerical publications, in which were alleged blasphemous cartoons.

Justice Deuel, in pronouncing sentence, said that the fact the papers were sold in the markets of the world mitigated the offence, but did not excuse the defendant.

GREENLAND'S NEWSPAPER.

FOR more than forty years there has been printed in Greenland a newspaper entitled Atuagadlintit, which, being interpreted, is "Something for Reading." The news it publishes relates mainly to the perils of the men who ply the kayaks, or native canoes, while engaged in seal, walrus and white bear hunting, with now and again glimpses of the happenings in more civilized lands. News travels to a great extent through the chance meetings of the natives with travellers from other regions. One odd feature of the paper is that there is little personal news, and names—those of the natives, at least—are rarely printed, as it is held to be unlucky.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE—ANNUAL MEETING.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE held its thirteenth annual meeting on the evening of March 11 at the Aldine Association. The meeting was well attended—nearly sixty members and their guests being present. After dinner, A. Wessels, the president of the League, called for the report of the Board of Managers, which was read by the secretary, Francis Gilman, as follows:

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

To the members of the Booksellers' League.

GENTLEMEN: Your Board of Managers herewith submit their thirteenth annual report for your approval.

Frequent and well-attended meetings of your Board of Managers have been held and much has been done to further the interests of the League.

Thirteen is usually accounted an unlucky number, and, besides, the year has not been so prosperous for some people as other years have been; nevertheless, The Booksellers' League has no reason to complain, as the following report of the treasurer will show:

CHAS. A. BURKHARDT, Treasurer.

The Employment Bureau, under the able direction of C. E. Bonnell, as in the past, has been active so far as it has been given a chance. If more employers would recognize its usefulness and utilize it for procuring help, and if those in need of work would apply to the Bureau, much more might be done. To Mr. Bonnell's untiring effort is due the success that has come to the Employment Bureau. Following is the REPORT OF EMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

During the year there have been 48 applications for positions, five of which were from women. This is a gain of five over the previous year. How many secured positions it is hard to say, as only nine paid the nominal registry fee.

From employers there were 30 applications for help, not one of which was for salesmen. Only about half of these were filled. This is thirteen less than the previous year.

Only $4.50 was collected, many applicants being either too poor to pay anything or forgetting to do so.

C. E. BONNELL.

This year the League gave seven dinners, and, as usual, co-operated with the American Booksellers' Association at its annual May dinner. We have entertained many guests, some new friends and some old friends of many years, to whom we owe much. Among the guests and speakers were: Dr. William Hanna Thomson, W. T. Eldridge, Hereward Carrington, Louis Joseph Vance, W. T. Hornaday, Rt. Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, Gelett Burgess, R. F. Outcault, Professor W. K. Wickes, Arnold W. Brunner, Edward Markham, George Sylvester Vierick, Dr. Josiah Strong, Charles Battell Loomis, Rev. Thomas R. Slicer, Rev. Madison C. Peters, Charles Alexander Nelson, Frederick R. Burton, Clayton Hamilton, John Henry Hazzard and John R. Anderson.

During the year a collection of over 3000 volumes, donated by the various publishers, was gotten together and forwarded to Dr. Wilfred Grenfell for his mission work among the sea-faring folk of Labrador.

Your Board of Managers would once more impress upon your minds that they desire your aid, your sympathy, your enthusiasm and your suggestions to enable its officers to keep the League up to the high-water mark it has reached in entertaining and in materially helping its membership.

FRANCIS GILMAN, Secretary.

The report was heartily applauded and adopted as read.

In announcing the next order of business, the election of president, Mr. Wessels expressed his thanks to his colleagues on the Board of Managers, and to the members of the League for their active and effective co-operation in furthering the work of the League and hoped that his successor would be assured of the same help in looking after the affairs of the organization. C. L. Bowman was then nominated and elected by acclamation.

During the canvass of the vote for six managers to serve three years, which resulted in the choice of Charles A. Burkhardt, A. Growoll, A. Wessels, T. E. Schulte, R. E. Sherwood and A. Giraldi, the League was entertained by W. J. Kelly, who gave an account of his recent trip to Canada, and by A. Growoll, who read selections from that capital book for bookmen with the unfortunate title of "The Ghosts of Piccadilly," which met with the hearty approval of the members present.

Mr. Bowman, the newly-elected president, having been conducted to the seat of honor, in a few words, expressed his thanks to the League for the honor conferred upon him and assured his fellow-members that he would exert himself to the utmost to keep the League up to the highest point of usefulness.

The services rendered to the League by Francis Gilman, E. B. Hackett, A. Wessels, Charles A. Burkhardt and A. G. Seiler were recognized and greeted with applause.

THE PITTSBURGH BOOKSELLERS' AND STATIONERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE Pittsburgh Booksellers' and Stationers' Association have elected the following officers: Harry F. Davis, president; A. W. McCloy, first vice-president; George H. Alexander, second vice-president; Robert Crawford, treasurer; Charles H. Langbein, recording secretary; Charles H. Clough, corresponding secretary. Charles H. Clough is chairman of the stationery committee, and H. Lee Mason, Jr., of the book committee.

STATIONERS' BOARD OF TRADE ANNUAL DINNER.

THE STATIONERS' BOARD OF TRADE in issuing a "last call" to its dinner to be held at the Waldorf Astoria on the evening of March 18, announce that it has secured the following speakers to entertain the company: The Rev. J. Herman Randall, the Hon. Robert J. Wilkin, Judge of Children's Court, and Messrs. James T. Hoile, secretary Manufacturers' Association; Frank W. Bailey, of Boston, Mass.; Edward E. Huber, and Theodore L. C. Gerry.

OBITUARY NOTES.

EDMONDO DE AMICIS, the noted Italian writer of travels, died March 11 at Bordighera, Italy, from congestion of the brain. He was born in 1846. His works, all written after his retirement from the Italian army in 1870, have been translated into many languages. Among them are volumes about Spain, England, Morocco and Constantinople.

PROFESSOR WILLIAM ASHBROOK KELLERMAN, head of the botanical department at the Ohio State University, Columbus, O., died on March 8 at Guatemala, where he went about a month ago to study the flora of the country. Professor Kellerman was born at Asheville, O., May 1, 1850, graduated from Cornell University in 1874, and received the degree of Ph.D. from the University of Zurich in 1881. He was founder and editor of The Journal of Mycology and the author of "Flora of Kansas," "Elementary Botany," "Phyto-Theca" and "Spring Flora of Ohio."

AUSTIN CRAIG APGAR, educator and naturalist, died suddenly at his home in Trenton, N. J., on the 4th inst. Mr. Apgar was born on August 4, 1838, in Peapack, N. J. He was graduated from the New Jersey State Normal School with the class of 1862, and four years later he entered the school as teacher and remained there up to the time of his death. Mr. Apgar was well known as a botanist, having studied under Louis Agassiz and Alexander Agassiz. He was a member of the Trenton Natural History Society and the New Jersey Council of Education. He was the author of "Geographical Handbooks," "Plant Analysis," "Mollusks of the Atlantic Coast," "Birds of the United States," "Pocket Key of Trees," "Trees of the Northern United States" and "Pocket Key of Birds."

DR. DANIEL BENNETT ST. JOHN ROOSA, president of the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital, died suddenly on March 9 at his home in New York City. Dr. Roosa was born April 4, 1838, in Bethel, N. Y. He entered Yale in 1856, but in a few months was obliged to leave on account of his health. His studies were continued under a private tutor, and in 1857 he entered the medical department of the New York University, which in 1860 conferred upon him the degree of M.D. In 1861 he joined the Fifth Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y., as assistant surgeon and served three months. He then spent a year in Europe in the study of ophthalmic clinics, and in 1863 he again joined the army in the field, serving with the Twelfth Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y., in Pennsylvania only a short time before the battle of Gettysburg. His principal contributions to medical literature were a translation of "Troltsch on the Eye" from the German; in collaboration with Dr. C. E. Hackley and Dr. Charles Stedman Bull, "Stellwag von Carion on the Eye," "Vest Pocket Medical Lexicon," "Treatise on the Ear," "The Old Hospital and Other Papers," "Clinical Manual of the Diseases of the Eye," "A Doctor's Suggestions," and "On the Necessity of Wearing Glasses." The "Treatise on the Ear" was republished in London and translated into German. Besides these works he was a frequent contributor to medical journals and magazines.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

ELIZA CALVERT HALL, the author of "Aunt Jane of Kentucky," the most popular book of fiction by a new author, published in 1907, has told the story of "How I happened to write 'Sally Ann's Experiences'" for the Cosmopolitan. "Sally Ann's Experiences" forms the first chapter of "Aunt Jane of Kentucky." It was this story that President Roosevelt publicly recommended "for use as a tract in all families where the men folks tend to selfish or thoughtless or overbearing disregard of the rights of women."

A COMPLIMENTARY dinner was recently tendered Dr. Ellis Paxson Oberholtzer, literary editor of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, by the Franklin Inn Club of that city. This club is an association of prominent authors and publishers, both in and out of Philadelphia, its object being to promote the interests of both classes of members and to increase the feeling of good-fellowship between them. The dinner was in testimony of Dr. Oberholtzer's long term as secretary of the club, but was particularly dictated by his recent literary services. He is author of a "Life of Lincoln," "The Literary History of Philadelphia," and a two-volume study of Jay Cooke and the "Finances of the Civil War." It is this last work, which is published by George W. Jacobs & Co., of Philadelphia, and the American Crisis Series of Biographies, which he is editing, and is published by the same firm, that the club had in view in giving the dinner.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE March Century has already gone out of print. Dealers who still have copies on hand will do well to call their customers' attention to Andrew Carnegie's article on "Railway Rebates," and to the paper on "Christianity and Health."

St. Nicholas has been made fully returnable to enable dealers to profit to the utmost by the great increase in its sales. The publishers announce that its circulation has doubled in the past eighteen months, and feel that there is a wide, undeveloped market for the magazine, and with the help of the dealers they are reaching it. There is five cents profit on each copy sold—and St. Nicholas customers come back every month.

THE AMERICAN BAPTIST PUBLICATION SOCIETY will publish shortly a new illustrated weekly paper for girls, entitled The Girl's World. Miss A. Edith Meyers, formerly on the editorial staff of the Ladies' Home Journal, will be the editor. This periodical will be a companion to the society's well-known paper, The Youth's World, which will hereafter be devoted exclusively to the interests of boys. The semi-monthly paper, Young Reaper, made up from full pages of The Youth's World, will be discontinued after July 1 of this year, as The Girl's World, to be issued weekly, will more than take its place.

HANS VON WEBER, of Munich, announces a new bi-monthly periodical to be devoted to literature and art, entitled Hyperion. The edition will be limited to 900 copies printed on vellum at 48 marks and 50 copies on imperial Japanese paper at 100 marks for the six annual numbers bound in three volumes. The first number will contain a newly-discovered work by Goethe, contributions in prose and verse by Hugo von Hofmannsthal, Rainer Maria Rilke, Wilhelm v. Schlotz, Heinrich Main, Franz Kafka and others, and twelve illustrations, reproduced in various processes, by Goya, Hans v. Marées, Max Mayrshofer, Thomas Theodor Heine and Pascin.

THE March number of the American Historical Magazine, the second number of volume III, of that periodical, (published by The Americana Society, 36 East Twenty-third Street, New York City,) continues the features which pre-eminently distinguished the preceding number. In text and in illustrations it is an important contribution to contemporaneous historical literature. The leading article of the number is "Early Massachusetts Newspapers," by the editor of the magazine, Lyman Horace Weeks. This gives an account of the first printing in the Massachusetts Bay Colony and the initial efforts that were made toward the foundation of a periodical press, in the latter part of the seventeenth century. Accompanying this paper are reprints of some of the early manuscript news-letter of that period and of several pages of the first issues of The Boston News-Letter. Other literary features of the magazine include the concluding portion of the article on "War Questions in Wisconsin," by F. C. Winkler; the second chapter in the series on "Heraldry," by Henry Whittemore; an additional installment of the "Book of Bruce," by Lyman Horace Weeks, in which the history of the early Bruces preceding King Robert, and the story of the life of that great king are exhaustively treated. The illustrations of the magazine continue to be one of its most notable features. The article on "Heraldry" is illustrated in the text and there are three full-page steel prints with the Bruce installment. The "Pictorial Life of Abraham Lincoln" is continued with three steel plates, one of which is the frontispiece of the number, and another the reproduction of a political cartoon of the presidential campaign of 1860.

BUSINESS NOTES.

NEW YORK CITY.—Merrill E. Gates, Jr., the trustee for the Consolidated Retail Book-sellers, has filed his verified final account and a final meeting of the creditors will be held at the office of the referee, Peter B. Olney, 68 William Street, on March 20, at 12 o'clock noon to pass upon the trustee's report.

NEW YORK CITY.—Edwin Ives & Sons, book manufacturers, have consolidated with J. J. Little & Co. under the corporate name of J. J. Little & Ives Co., and will continue at 2 to 20 Astor Place.

NEW YORK CITY.—Henry Holt & Company expect to move this month to 34 West Thirty-third Street, having outgrown the quarters at 29 West Twenty-third Street, which have served them for over twenty-five years. During the preceding seventeen years of Mr. Holt's connection with the business it was located successively at 640 Broadway, 451 Broome Street, 25 Bond Street, and 12 East Twenty-third Street. Before Mr. Holt joined the business Mr. Frederick Leypoldt, the founder of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, had brought it, (including a boy, now Joseph Vogelius, the treasurer of the corporation,) from Philadelphia.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE STUYVESANT PRESS will publish on the 21st inst. a new novel by Hubert Wales, author of "The Yoke," entitled "Mr. and Mrs. Villiers."

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish, on the 21st inst., a new book by Elizabeth Ellis, author of "Barbara Winslow," entitled "The Fair Moon of Bath," for which the famous English resort in its heyday furnished her the background.

A. S. BARNES & Co. will publish shortly a work on "Graded Games and Rhythmic Exercises," by Marion Bromley Newton, the substance of which has been successfully employed for some time in the schools of Rochester.

SMALL, MAYNARD & Co. announce in their Beacon Series a biography of Edgar Allan Poe, by John Macy, who in the preface to his book expresses a desire to see Poe's biography and letters put together by some one "strong enough to ignore no fact and large enough not to follow too creepingly the surviving documents."

IN the list of department stores printed in The Travellers' Number of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY two corrections should be noted, i.e., Miss B. Morris is buyer for Edward Malley Co., New Haven, Conn.; and M. E. Herz is buyer for A. Herz, of Terre Haute, Ind., not for W. H. Albrecht & Co.

THE latest developments in the wrangle over the London Times are that at the court hearing on March 10 a new scheme was developed by a group of shareholders which probably will protract, for months to come, the litigation respecting the internal affairs of the company that owns the Times.

METHUEN & Co., London, has brought out a work entitled "A Star of the Salons—Julie de Lespinasse," by Miss Camilla Jebb, which deals with the strange early career of Mlle. de Lespinasse, her experiences as governess in a country house, boarder in a convent, companion to Madame du Deffand, and finally as mistress of a salon.

CASSELL & Co. have just ready a new novel by Alice and Claude Askew, authors of "The Shulamite," etc., entitled "The Plains of Silence." South Africa provides the setting for this romance, in which the reader is introduced to a heroine who is fresh from an English school and who finds herself suddenly a part of the somewhat alien elements that go to make up life in Cape Town.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have just ready "An Account of the Life of George, Earl of Macartney," the first British Ambassador to Peking, with his letters, and the narrative of his experiences in China as told by himself, by Helen H. Robbins; "The Canterbury Puzzles and Other Curious Problems," by Henry Ernest Dudeney, illustrated; also, a new, cheap edition, revised, of Horace Plunkett's "Ireland in the New Century."

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. have added to Miss Katharine Lee Bates' volume of literary travels in England entitled "From Gretna Green to Lands' End," a map showing the places visited, and announce that they will mail a separate copy of this map upon request to any purchaser of the first edition. They also announce "The Christian Faith and the Old Testament," by Dr. John M. Thomas, president of Middlebury College, described as a progressive yet conservative book on this topic.

THE AMERICAN PUBLISHING COMPANY, of Hartford, Connecticut, by arrangement with Harper & Brothers, have just issued the 24th and 25th volumes of Mark Twain's collected writings to complete the sets of the various uniform editions published by them. These volumes contain many of the stories, sketches and articles written by Mr. Clemens during the last five years, and also a number of earlier stories which a careful search, under Mr. Clemens's supervision, has brought to light and which, in many cases, rank with his best work.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS will bring out this month in a volume entitled "The Study of Stellar Evolution," by Professor George E. Hale, the fascinating story of how suns and worlds are born, grow, decay and die. The author explains how the life-histories of the sun and stars are investigated, and his book is intended for the general public and is charmingly written. One hundred and four half-tone plates, made from the best astronomical negatives, place before the reader the marvellous results of recent astrophysical study.

PAUL ELDER & COMPANY announce for early publication "Messages to Mothers," by Herman Partsch, M.D., author of "The Ills of Indigestion," presenting a simple, practical and natural scheme for the right diet, care and treatment of mother and child. The discussion of this vital subject is addressed to mothers, to whom the work should prove helpful and suggestive. They have in preparation various Easter editions of books appropriate to the season, several cards and tokens, an illuminated card by Will Jenkins, Agnes Greene Foster's "Toast to Friendship," and a similar issue of "A Collect for Club Women," by Mary Stuart.

THE ALICE HARRIMAN Co., Seattle, Wash., announce for early publication the first of a series of reprints to be known as The Puget Sound Historical Series. The first book to be reprinted is Arthur A. Denny's "Pioneer Days on Puget Sound." It has been edited by Alice Harriman, author of "Songs o' the Sound," "Chaperoning Adrienne," etc., and will contain reproductions of many rare old photographs, sketches, plans and a map of great value. The edition will be strictly limited to 850 copies, numbered and signed. Nearly 600 copies have been subscribed to in Seattle and only 200 copies are offered to general subscribers.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. have in press volumes III. and IV. of "The History of Twenty-five Years," by the late Sir Spencer Walpole, a continuation of the author's "History of England from the Conclusion of the Great War in 1815 to 1858." This continuation was planned to embrace the period from 1856 to 1881. The first two volumes were issued in 1904 and embraced the period from 1856 to 1870. The forthcoming volumes complete the work to 1881. They have also in press "Talks on Religion: a Collective Enquiry," edited by Henry Bedinger Mitchell; a new edition of "Buddhism, Primitive and Present," by the most Rev. Reginald Stephen Copleston, Bishop of Calcutta; and "A Mind That Found Itself," by Clifford Beers.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. will publish at once "Wages and Employment," by Sydney J. Chapman, with an introduction by Lord Brassey, which forms the continuation of Lord Brassey's "Work and Wages" and "Foreign Work and English Wages," and deals with trade union organization, policies, unemployment and methods of dealing with it, methods of industrial peace and workmen's insurance in the United States, Germany, France and the United Kingdom with reference to other countries if their labor experiments have been of exceptional interest; a work on "Thermochemistry," by Professor Julius Thomsen, of Copenhagen, translated by Katharine A. Burke, of the University of London; also, "Authority, Ecclesiastical and Biblical," by the Rev. Dr. Francis J. Hall, forming the second volume in Dr. Hall's treatise on Dogmatic Theology, which, it is expected, will be completed in ten volumes.

D. B. UPDIKE, of The Merrymount Press, Boston, apropos of the two-hundredth anniversary of the erection (in 1707) of the ancient sanctuary of the Episcopal Church in Narragansett, R. I., has issued, in three handsome octavo volumes, a second edition of "A History of the Episcopal Church in Narragansett, R. I., including a history of other Episcopal Churches in the State," by Wilkins Updike, the grandfather of the publisher of this edition. The volume also contains a transcript of the Narragansett Parish Register, from 1718 to 1774, a reprint of the Rev. Dr. James MacSparran's "America Dissected," and copies of other old papers, together with notes containing genealogical and biographical accounts of distinguished men, families, etc., with portraits after old paintings and views of historic localities. The original work has been thoroughly revised, corrected and enlarged by the Rev. Dr. Daniel Goodwin, sometime rector of St. Paul's Church, Wickford, Narragansett.

THE AMERICAN BAPTIST PUBLICATION SOCIETY have taken over the following books formerly published by the Christian Culture Press of Chicago: "Two Thousand Years of Missions Before Carey," by Lemuel Call Barnes; "Why is Christianity True?" by Edgar Y. Mullins, and "The Monuments and the Old Testament," by Ira Maurice Price. These books were used chiefly for the study courses of the B. Y. P. U. of A., and will be added to from time to time. The Society has also become the publishers of "The Young Christian and His Bible," by William Henry Geistweit, and "The Young Christian and His Work," by Z. Grenell, formerly published by the B. Y. P. U. of A. They will publish early in April a new book by Professor Henry C. Vedder, entitled "Christian Epoch Makers," describing the personality and work of such men as Paul and Augustine, Xavier, Zinzendorf, Martyn Carey, Judson and others. They have also nearly ready two new books by the Rev. Dr. Henry C. Mabie, the one entitled "How Does the Death of Christ Save Us?" which deals with the practical side of the atonement, and the other "The Divine Right of Missions."

GEORGE W. JACOBS & Co. have in preparation two books of importance to the student of archæology and of interest to the general reader. The first of these is "Archæology and False Antiquities," which recounts in entertaining manner some of the attempts made in both England and America to palm off forged antiquities upon the unsuspecting relic hunter, and how nature herself sometimes stoops to aid in these deceptions. The second book, which bears the caption "Celtic Art in Pagan and Christian Times," deals with the various manifestations of the art of the Celt, as revealed in architectural construction and applied design, before the Anglo-Saxon ever set foot on British soil. They also announce a work entitled "Trees in Nature, Myth and Art," by J. Ernest Pythian, which deals with such subjects as Tree Worship, How Trees Change Through the Year, Trees in Architecture, Trees in Painting, etc., and is profusely illustrated, some of the pictures being from most unusual sources; and "Black Bruin, the Biography of a Bear," by Clarence Hawkes, the blind naturalist, whose clever stories of the life of a common bear in the central Alleghenies indicate that Mr. Hawkes probably observes the movements of nature about him more keenly than do most people possessing unimpaired eyesight.

BELOW is a representation of Leslie G. Nourse, of the Henry Altemus Company, and C. R. Duryea, of James Pott & Co., digging for orders in Los Angeles, Cal.—in the backyard of Edward H. Dart, of the firm of A. Hamburger & Sons. At the time this picture was taken Fred. Nunan, Louis Weil, Arthur Leon, George Platt, Louis Adams and Jackson Heineberg were on the other side of the fence waiting for a chance to "dig" their rivals.

LESLIE G. NOURSE AND C. R. DURYEA DIGGING FOR ORDERS IN LOS ANGELES, CAL.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just brought out the first volume of the new and low-priced edition of "The Dictionary of National Biography." The entire work, originally consisting of sixty-six volumes, is now to be got within twenty-two volumes of reasonable size by the use of specially made paper, and a number of corrections are to be made. They have also just brought out the second volume, containing Parts iv. and v. of the "Itinerary" of John Leland, edited by Miss Lucy Toulmin Smith. The first volume, containing Parts i.-iii., was published nearly a year ago. Leland was one of the sixteenth century scholars and travellers who have preserved for us in their books such remarkable pictures of the life of their times. His tour of England and Wales covers the period of about 1535-43, and is accompanied by a detailed map showing his wanderings. They have in press a book by Professor Henry S. Nash, of the Cambridge Theological School, which is to be published before Easter. Under the title "The Atoning Life," Professor Nash discusses in a profoundly religious spirit the inner principles of the Christian religion. It may be expected that, by reason of Professor Nash's position and reputation as a scholar, the book will make a strong appeal to scholars; but it is addressed primarily to the general reader.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish on March 21 "Priest and Pagan," by Herbert M. Hopkins, rector of the Church of the Holy Nativity in the Bronx, author of "The Mayor of Warwick," etc., an absorbing novel, showing a notable capacity to express experience, moods and the subtler complications of character, the scene of which is laid in the Bronx, the half-wooded suburb of New York City, in which the Lorillard Mansion in Bronx Park, Poe's Cottage, Nolan's Tavern and St. John's College at Fordham are introduced; "The Church and Modern Life," by Washington Gladden, in which the author meets the question whether the Christian church is an effete institution, pointing out frankly some of its shortcomings and failures, and showing what it must do to be saved and to save society; "Literature and the American College," by Irving Babbitt, assistant professor of French in Harvard University, a timely book upon a matter of the first importance to education in America; the sixth volume of "Poole's Index, 1902-1906," edited by W. I. Fletcher and Mary Poole, which covers 190 different periodicals, as against 170 in the previous volume, and indexes by subjects the contents of 1360 volumes, special pains having been taken to include references to a large number of college and university publications, making the index of greater value to the larger libraries, while at the same time it has not been in the least weakened on the more popular side.

THIS year Henry Holt & Company will issue most of their books in the fall, after they have gotten settled in their new quarters at 34 West Thirty-third Street, New York. De Morgan's "Somehow Good," J. Breckenridge Ellis's "Arkinsaw Cousins," and Edward Barron's "The Lost Goddess" constitute their spring fiction. Messrs. Holt hope for the reported "return of the essay," and are following Miss Ellen Burns Sherman's "Words to the Wise—and Others," with Miss Zephine Humphrey's "Over Against Green Peak," a humorous and poetic record of New England country life; "The Quest of the Unseen," by Professor Oscar Kuhns, author of "Dante and the English Poets," etc., and "The Comments of Bagshot" on pretty much everything from socialism to immortality, a book by J. A. Spender, the editor of the Westminster Gazette, which is making quite a sensation in England. Two very attractive collections of verse for summer travellers will be "Poems for Travellers," edited by Miss Mary R. J. DuBois, in which she covers the Continent, Spain excepted, and "The Poetic Old World," (all Europe, including the British Isles,) a companion volume to Lucas's "Friendly Town" and "Open Road," compiled by Miss Lucy H. Humphrey. New volumes in The American Nature Series will be "Fish Stories Alleged and Experienced," by President Jordan, of Leland Stanford University, and Dr. Charles F. Holder; "The Wasps and Others" and a revised edition of "American Insects," both by Professor Vernon L. Kellogg, author of "Darwinism To-day," which is attracting such wide attention; and "North American Trees," by Dr. Nathaniel Lord Britton, director of the New York Botanical Garden. Still another important nature book suitable also for general readers will be "Biology and Its Makers," by Professor William A. Locy. Among the Holts' spring text-books, many of them of interest to general readers, may be mentioned John Dewey's and James A. Tuft's "Ethics," Seashore's "Elementary Experiments in Psychology," Dr. George W. Fitz's "Physiology and Hygiene," "Lillie's "Development of the Chick," Ernst's "Überwunden," edited by J. T. Hatfield; Moser's "Eltimo," edited by C. L. Crow, and his "Bibliothekar," edited by H. A. Farr; "Eight German Stories," edited by G. M. Baker; Schiller's "Neffe Als Onkel," edited by F. B. Sturm; and "Am Anfang," an elementary German reader by Julius Tuckerman, the last five texts being supplied with vocabularies.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No reduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplaced advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no account must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

Write your wants plainly, and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay" book-sellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

THE CLIQUE

(ESTABLISHED 1890)

The Recognized Organ of the Second-Hand Book Trade

THE CLIQUE is read by every bookseller who deals in old books in Great Britain, and by many in the United States and on the Continent.

THE CLIQUE advertises for about 4000 books every week; books which are wanted by its Members, and for which they are willing to pay a fair price.

THE CLIQUE is issued to booksellers only, its motto being "The Trade for THE TRADE." Booksellers can therefore report to our advertisers in confidence that they will not be "cut" by amateur dealers, who are not obliged to make their living by selling books.

THE CLIQUE is the best medium for all advertisements which appeal to booksellers, and its rates are lower than those of any trade paper in the world.

SUBSCRIPTION 6s 6d ($1.50) per annum, post free; but as all subscriptions terminate in December subscribers may deduct 1s 4d per line for each week of the year that has passed.

Bibliographical Helps

ISSUED FROM

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY OFFICE

The Publishers' Weekly

Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly indexes, cumulated quarterly, news of interest concerning the book trade, lists of "Book Wanted," (an advertising feature which each subscriber can use without charge to the extent of 100 lines per year,) etc., etc. Subscription, $4.00 a year; to foreign countries, $5.00 a year.

The American Catalog, 1900-1905

Vol. I contains a five-year cumulation, Jan. 1, 1900-Jan. 1, 1905, giving in one alphabet, by author, title and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by this period. It also contains a directory of over 3800 publishers, with street addresses. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50.

Vol. II or Supplementary volume gives the full-title entries with annotations printed in the Weekly Record of The Publishers' Weekly, cumulated into an alphabet for each year, i.e., into five alphabets 1900, 01, 02, 03, 04. This is planned to answer the demand of such libraries, bookdealers, and others as want the full material of The Publishers' Weekly bibliographical system in available shape. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50. The set of two, $15.

Of the previous series of THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE, quarto size, the earlier volumes are out of print. We have remaining a few copies of the volumes 1890-95 and 1895-1900, bound in half morocco, $15.00 each.

The Annual American Catalog, 1907

Containing in one alphabet a record of all books published during 1905-06-07; under author, title, subject and series entries; also under author's name an alphabetical list of the entries of 1907 only with descriptive annotations from The Publishers' Weekly, etc. 8vo, cloth, $7.50.

The Publishers' Trade List Annual

Contains the latest catalogues of upward of 200 American publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names, with smaller lists, fully indexed, at the end of the volume, indispensable to every one who has any interest in the sale or purchase of books. Large 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

Index to the Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1902, out of print.

The Supplementary Index, 1903-1904, 500 pages, 8vo, cloth, with thumb index, $3.00. The alphabet in this volume is supplementary to the original Index of 1902.

The American Educational List

Contains a price-list of the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. (Published annually.) 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

The Library Journal

Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription $4.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 35 cents. Price to Europe or other countries in the Union, 16s. a year; single numbers, 1s. 6d.

The Annual Library Index

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc., Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and H. E. HAINES. (Published annually.) 8vo, cloth, $3.50.

English Catalogue of Books (Annual)

Containing a complete list of all the books published in Great Britain and Ireland in the calendar year, with index to subjects. 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

English Catalogue of Books, 1901-1905

The record of these five years in one continuous alphabet. (Seventh volume of series.) 8vo, half morocco, $20.00.

Directory of Publishers

Contains names and addresses of 3876 firms and individuals who issued books in the U. S. from Jan. 1, 1900 to Jan. 1, 1905. (Reprinted from The American Catalog.) 8vo, leatherette, red edges, $1.00.

The Profession of Bookselling

A handbook of practical hints for the apprentice and bookseller. By A. GROWOLL, managing editor of The Publishers' Weekly, author of "A Bookseller's Library," "Three Centuries of English-Booktrade Bibliography," etc. Parts 1 and 2. 8vo, boards, each $2.00. (Concluding part in preparation.)

Publications of Societies

A provisional list of the publications of American scientific, literary and other societies, from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Schedules nearly 1000 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. 8vo, paper, $2.50.

State Publications

A provisional list of the official publications of the several States of the United States from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Part 1: New England States. Part 2: North Central States. Part 3: Western States and Territories. Part 4, (In preparation) Southern States. (For the complete work $10.)
